MS Jelmar:

The MS Jelmar is a small, intimate and comfortable passenger barge for 20-22 persons, which was fully renovated in 2007. The 10 cabins (approx. 8.2 m²) feature two single beds (80 x 200 cm), a small wardrobe, shelves above and storage space under the beds, a small bathroom with washbasin, shower and toilet and small windows with screens that can be opened. In two of the cabins a folding bed for children up to the age of 12 (weighing no more than 40 kg) are available upon request. The nostalgically furnished salon acts as both your restaurant and living room. There is a bar and Wi-Fi (mobile internet; additional info on board) is available. During the evenings or while cruising, you can enjoy the scenery of the surrounding countryside from the sundeck.

In the museum you will learn about iconic Dutch traditions such as windmills and cheese and clog making. You will then cycle to Haarlem where celebrated portraitist and genre painter Frans Hals lived and worked in the 16th century. CYCLING TOURS IN HOLLAND: THE "CYCLE JUNCTION NETWORK"

Throughout the Netherlands there is a network of interconnecting cycle routes, with a total length of more than 4,500 km, called the 'Cycle junction network' (Dutch: fietsknooppunten netwerk). A cycle junction is a numbered intersection that is part of a regional cycle route network. Each junction is provided with a number and an information panel. The distance to the next junction is displayed on this panel. The routes between two junctions are signposted in two directions with white and green signs (see picture). On the information panel you can orientate where you are and decide to extend or shorten the route to your destination. We use the cycle junction network in the description of the daily bike tours in the Netherlands and Flanders. The junctions are marked on the maps our guests use for the daily bike tours. The tour guide on board will explain to our guests how this easy system works. He/she will tell you the daily highlights and the detours which are worthwhile as well. On our website we show in a short video how this cycle junction network works.
